Ron/Kathy -- FYI!

There has been some confusion regarding the dates that EPA sent information requests to Cabot. If I see something up here in a document that looks incorrect...I try to make sure the correct date is inserted: January 6, 2012. Has a second request letter gone out, and if so, when?

I'm asking because the dates keep changing every time I see a document (just last night, I saw another reference in what is being currently drafted...and I suggested it be changed to 1/6/12); but in the letter that was signed by Shawn and Mathy and shared with reporters on Tuesday, the letter states that Cabot is responding to our January 12 request for information. Just letting you know something has been issued, signed and shared with reporters stating January 12 as the date we sent an info letter...and I just think we need to be very careful that nothing is stated publicly that is incorrect. If a 2nd info request did go out on 1/12, then I'm worrying for nothing. But if so, I didn't see it mentioned on the chronology. joan

EPA welcomes the new data that Cabot recently submitted in response to the of January 12, 2012. Our technical experts are reviewing the data expeditiously, carefully consider it, along with the results of our own sampling, in determining want to assure you we will be guided only by science in reviewing all relevant
